Supt. A. C. Steboth of the Lake Superior & Arizona, who returned from Superior yesterday, reports another important strike in that remarkable mine. The shaft encountered the vein at 118 feet, and the bottom of the shaft is entirely in ledge matter—iron and manganese, the iron carrying some gold. A station will be cut at 125 feet and sinking continued. Superintendent Steboth is elated over this latest strike, as it now seems highly probable that important ore bodies will be opened below water level.
